

About Chief Procurement Officer (CPO)

Author : Spend Matters PRO

Date : September 14, 2014

The Spend Matters Chief Procurement Officer website is part of the Spend Matters Network. Created in late 2014, Chief Procurement Officer is the first executive-level website of its kind, providing procurement executives and their team members with objective analysis, original content and research reports as well as the latest and most-relevant procurement news.

Spend Matters Chief Procurement Officer is the one-stop source for procurement executives. We offer:

- CPO-personalized and high-level content focused on leadership, transformation, talent management, case studies, interviews, relevant research, original insights and next practices.
- Expert original research and content from across the full Azul Partners family of sites.
- The latest news, analysis, insight and information from around a variety of respected publications.
- Content divided on three specific focus areas: research & insights, opinion and technology.
- An attractive and mobile-friendly website.
- Objective, expert research, advice and analysis of procurement providers.

Azul Partners, founded in January 2004, is the parent company of Spend Matters and is headquartered in Chicago.
